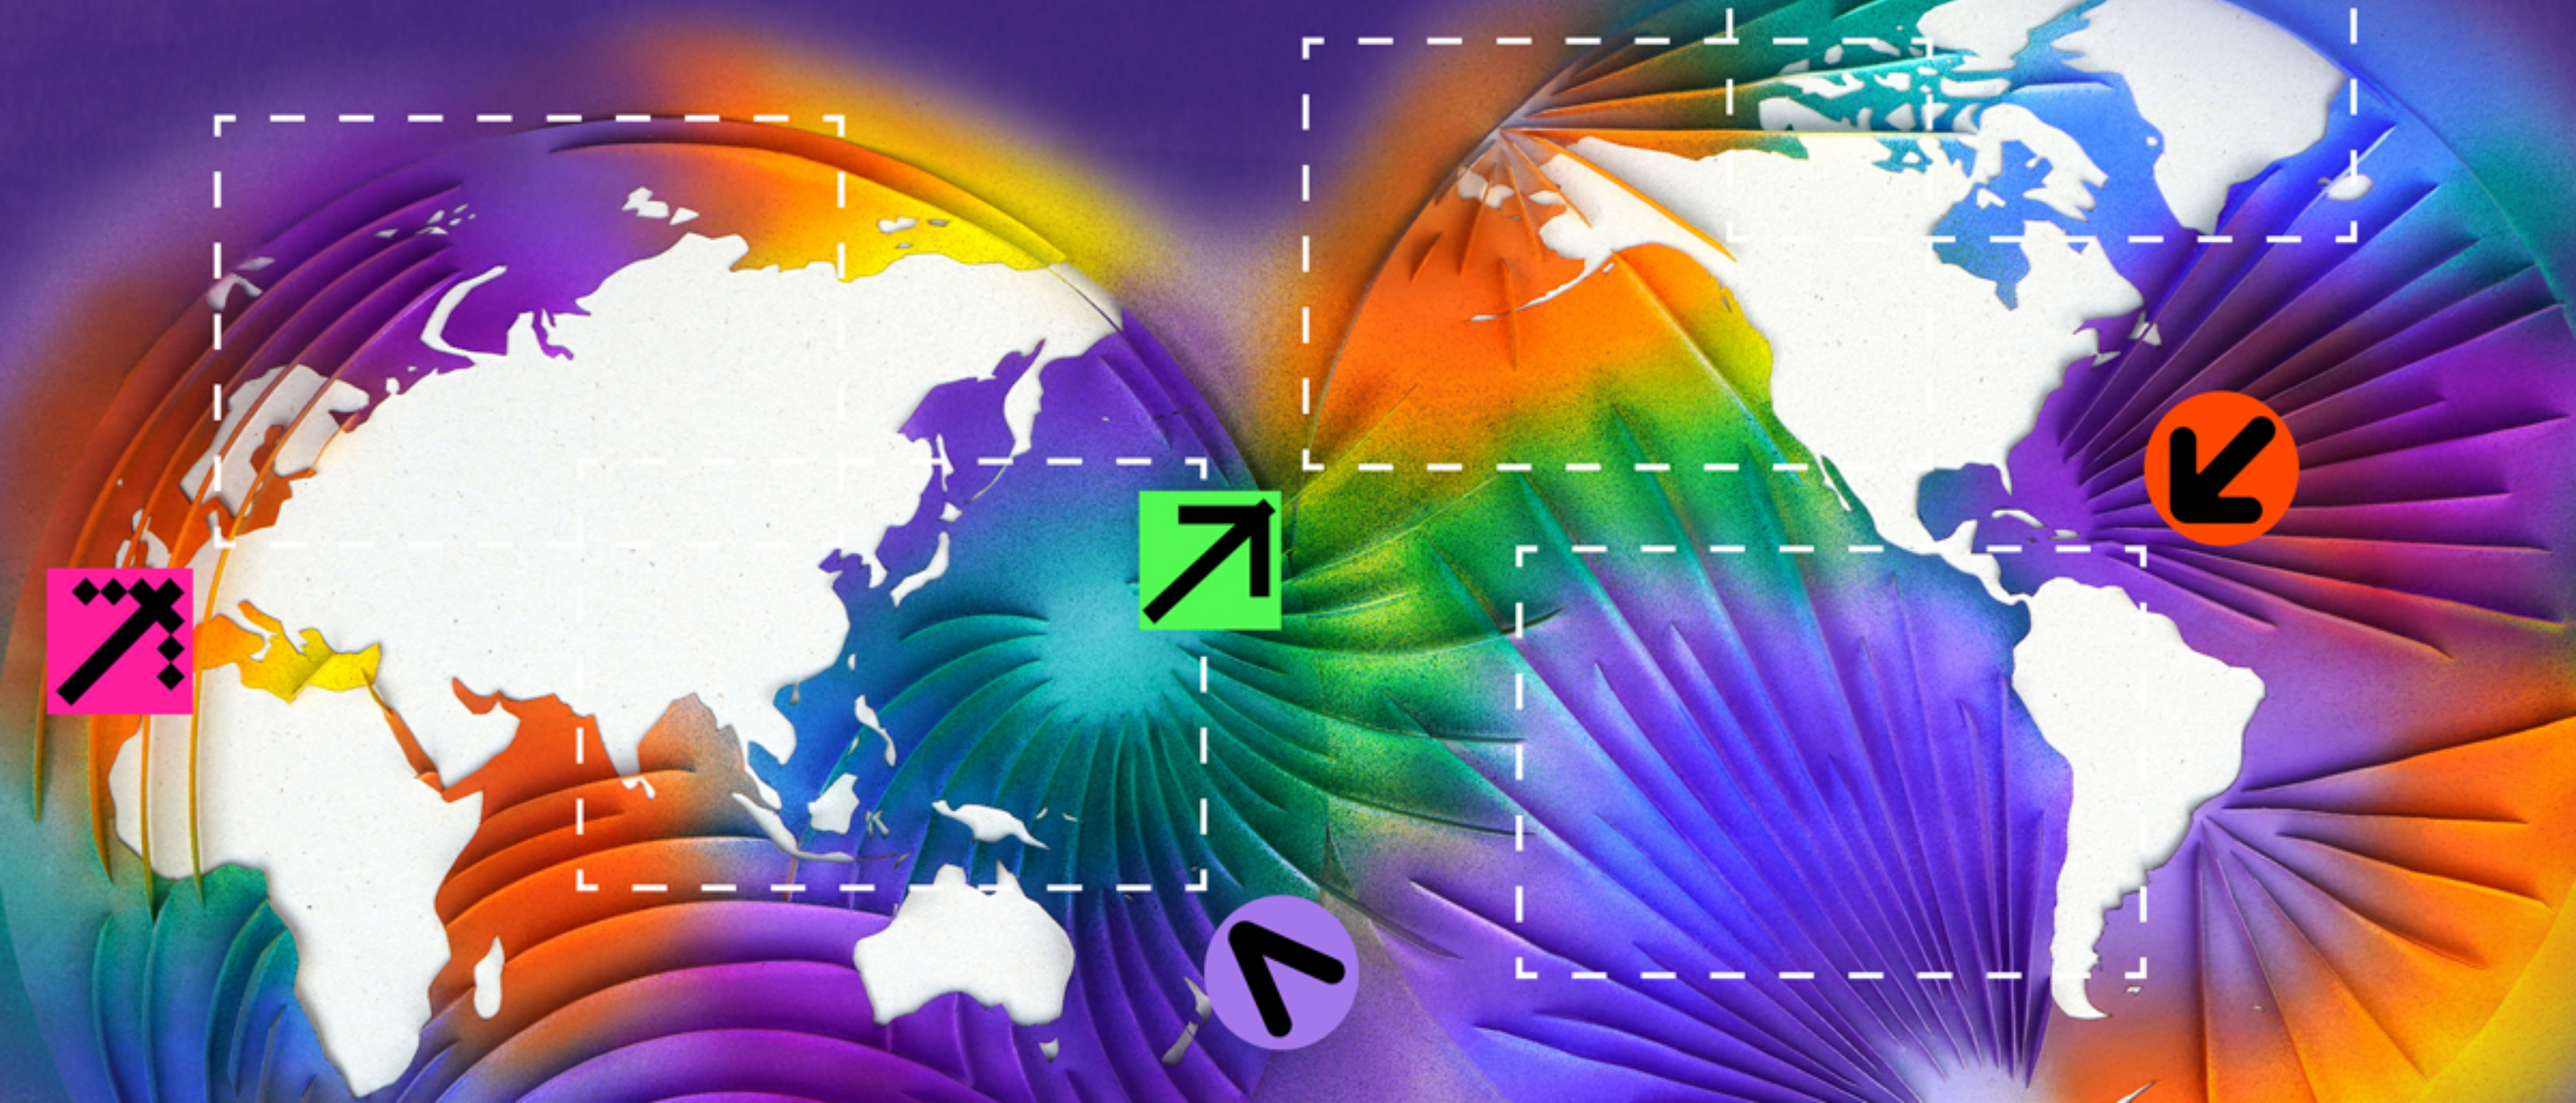
Rule of Law Index 2025



Introduction

The World Justice Project (WJP) Rule of Law Index® 2025 is the latest report in an annual series measuring people's perceptions and experiences of the rule of law around the world. The Index is the world's leading source for original, independent data on the rule of law, and it is WJP's hope that this diagnostic tool will help identify strengths and weaknesses, encourage policy choices, guide program development, and inform research to strengthen the rule of law.

The following pages contain a selection of key insights and data trends from 2025. In contrast with previous versions of the report, WJP has migrated portions of the Index—including country profiles, the methodology, and supplemental data visualizations—online. These and other resources, such as our questionnaires and variable map, are available for download on our website: worldjusticeproject.org/index.

The rule of law is the bedrock of peace, justice, human rights, and sustainable development. Yet the 2025 edition of the World Justice Project (WJP) Rule of Law Index® shows that this foundation is under growing strain. A tentative recovery seen in recent years has reversed sharply: the global rule of law recession is deepening. Authoritarian practices are on the rise, eroding checks and balances and constricting civic space. Building resilient institutions takes years; dismantling them can happen quickly—with lasting consequences. We present this year's Index in memory of our founder, William H. Neukom, whose vision and conviction continue to guide our work.

To meet this moment, the WJP provides a common evidence base that helps countries identify strengths to build on and weaknesses to confront. The 2025 Index draws on the experiences of more than 215,000 ordinary people and over 4,100 insightful survey responses from legal practitioners and scholars across 143 countries and jurisdictions. Results are organized into eight dimensions of the rule of law: Constraints on Government Powers, Absence of Corruption, Open Government, Fundamental Rights, Order and Security, Regulatory Enforcement, Civil Justice, and Criminal Justice.

This year's findings are sobering. Overall rule of law declined again in most countries, with 68% registering losses. Core safeguards against executive overreach weakened, including measures of checks on government power and judicial independence. Civic space deteriorated in over 70% of countries, curtailing freedoms of expression and participation.

Even so, the Index is also a tool for action. The World Justice Project stands ready to work with governments, policymakers, businesses, civil society, and academia to halt the decline and strengthen rule of law resilience. We invite you to use these data to inform decisions, inspire reform, and advance justice for all.

About the Rule of Law

Our Definition

The idea of rule of law, traceable to ancient scholars, resonates in most major legal traditions. WJP's definition of rule of law is built around four universal principles, developed in accordance with internationally accepted standards and norms, in consultation with a wide variety of experts worldwide.

rule · of · law

The rule of law is a durable system of laws, institutions, norms, and community commitment that delivers four universal principles: accountability, just law, open government, and accessible and impartial justice.

The Four Universal Principles

1. Accountability

The government and private actors are accountable under the law.

2. Just Law

The law is clear, publicized, and stable and is applied evenly. It ensures human rights as well as property, contract, and procedural rights.

3. Open Government

The processes by which the law is adopted, administered, adjudicated, and enforced are accessible, fair, and efficient.

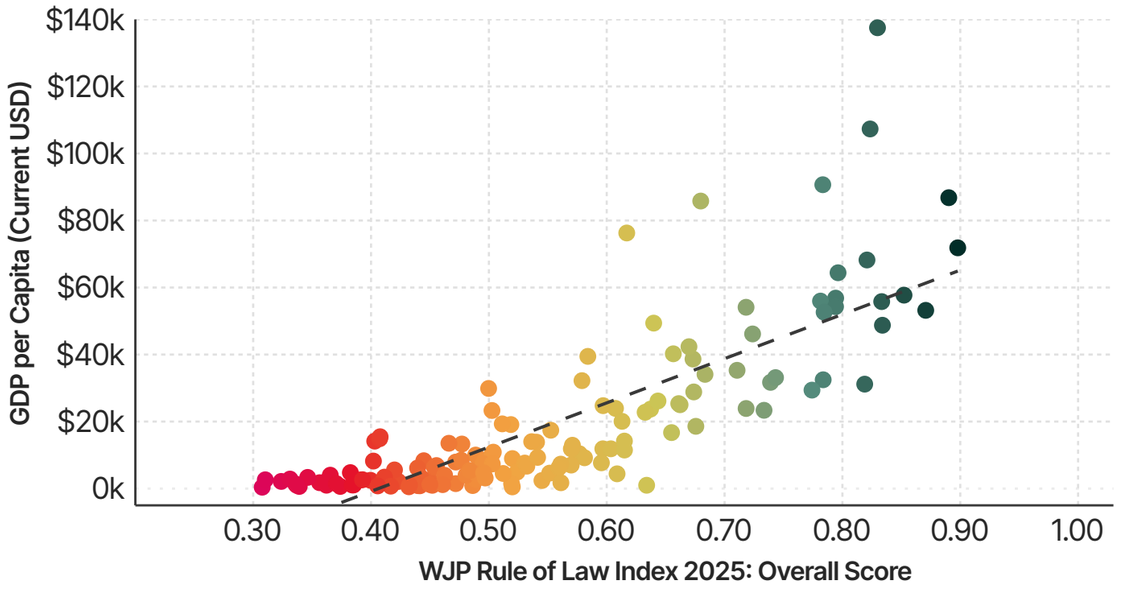
4. Accessible and Impartial Justice

Justice is delivered timely by competent, ethical, and independent representatives and neutrals who are accessible, have adequate resources, and reflect the makeup of the communities they serve.

Benefits of Effective Rule of Law

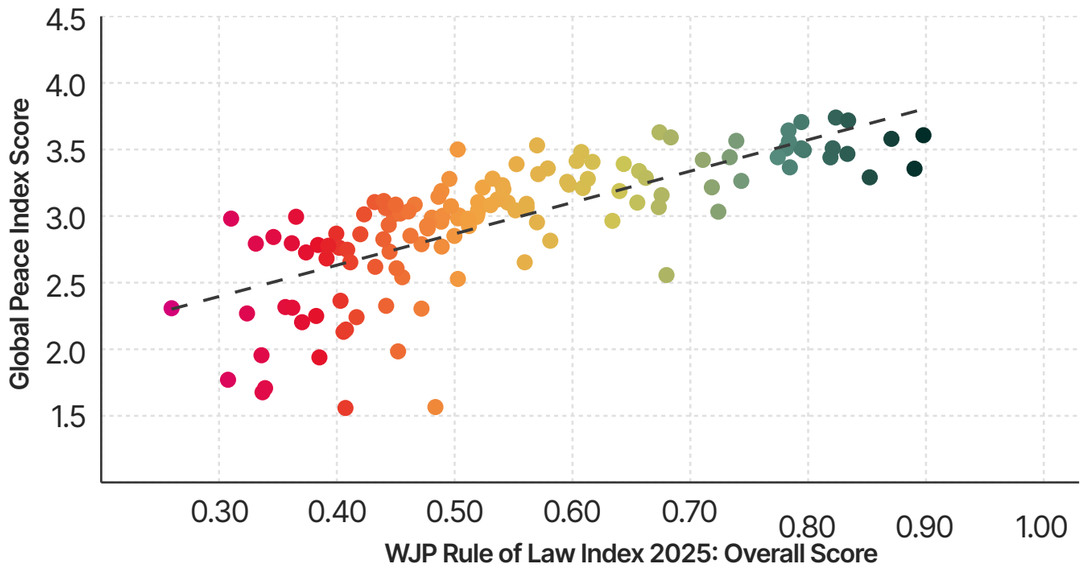
ECONOMY

Where rule of law is stronger, so is the economy.[1]



PEACE

More peaceful countries enjoy greater rule of law.[2]



No matter who we are or where we live, the rule of law affects us all. It is the foundation for communities of justice, opportunity, and peace—underpinning development, accountable government, and respect for fundamental rights.

Research shows that stronger rule of law correlates to higher economic productivity, greater peace, more education, and improved health outcomes.*

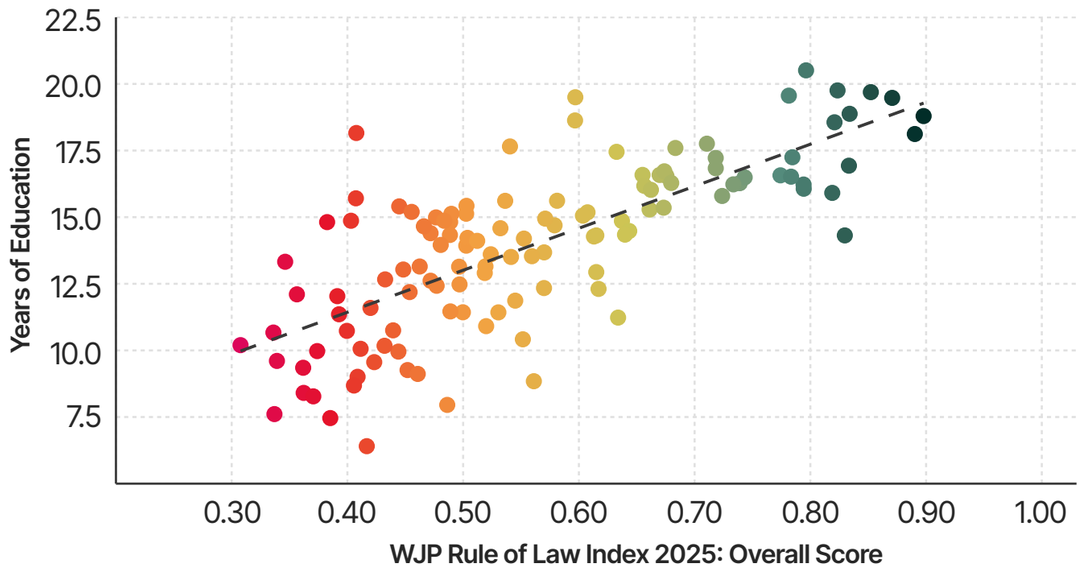
EDUCATION

People are more educated where rule of law prevails.[3]



LIFE EXPECTANCY

People live longer in countries with higher rule of law scores.[4]

The Conceptual Framework of the WJP Rule of Law Index

The conceptual framework of the WJP Rule of Law Index is comprised of eight factors further disaggregated into 44 sub-factors. These factors and sub-factors are presented as follows:

1 Constraints on Government Powers

- 1.1 Government powers are effectively limited by the legislature
- 1.2 Government powers are effectively limited by the judiciary
- 1.3 Government powers are effectively limited by independent auditing and review
- 1.4 Government officials are sanctioned for misconduct
- 1.5 Government powers are subject to non-governmental checks
- 1.6 Transition of power is subject to the law

2 Absence of Corruption

- 2.1 Government officials in the executive branch do not use public office for private gain
- 2.2 Government officials in the judicial branch do not use public office for private gain
- 2.3 Government officials in the police and the military do not use public office for private gain
- 2.4 Government officials in the legislative branch do not use public office for private gain

3 Open Government

- 3.1 Publicized laws and government data
- 3.2 Right to information
- 3.3 Civic participation
- 3.4 Complaint mechanisms

4 Fundamental Rights

- 4.1 Equal treatment and absence of discrimination
- 4.2 The right to life and security of the person is effectively guaranteed
- 4.3 Due process of the law and rights of the accused
- 4.4 Freedom of opinion and expression is effectively guaranteed
- 4.5 Freedom of belief and religion is effectively guaranteed
- 4.6 Freedom from arbitrary interference with privacy is effectively guaranteed
- 4.7 Freedom of assembly and association is effectively guaranteed
- 4.8 Fundamental labor rights are effectively guaranteed

5 Order and Security

- 5.1 Crime is effectively controlled
- 5.2 Civil conflict is effectively limited
- 5.3 People do not resort to violence to redress personal grievances

6 Regulatory Enforcement

Indicators of the WJP Rule of Law Index

1. Constraints on Government Powers

1.1 Government powers are effectively limited by the legislature

Measures whether legislative bodies have the independence and the ability in practice to exercise effective checks on and oversight of the government.

1.2 Government powers are effectively limited by the judiciary

Measures whether the judiciary has the independence and the ability in practice to exercise effective checks on and oversight of the government.

1.3 Government powers are effectively limited by independent auditing and review

Measures whether comptrollers or auditors, as well as national human rights ombudsman agencies, have sufficient independence and the ability to exercise effective checks on and oversight of the government.

1.4 Government officials are sanctioned for misconduct

Measures whether government officials in the executive, legislature, judiciary, and the police are investigated, prosecuted, and punished for official misconduct and other violations.

1.5 Government powers are subject to non-governmental checks

Measures whether an independent media, civil society organizations, political parties, and individuals are free to report and comment on government policies without fear of retaliation.

1.6 Transition of power is subject to the law

Measures whether government officials are elected or appointed in accordance with the rules and procedures set forth in the constitution. Where elections take place, it also measures the integrity of the electoral process, including access to the ballot, the absence of intimidation, and public scrutiny of election results.

2. Absence of Corruption

2.1 Government officials in the executive branch do not use public office for private gain

Measures the prevalence of bribery, informal payments, and other inducements in the delivery of public services and the enforcement of regulations. It also measures whether government procurement and public works contracts are awarded through an open and competitive bidding process, and whether government officials at various levels of the executive branch refrain from embezzling public funds.

2.2 Government officials in the judicial branch do not use public office for private gain

Measures whether judges and judicial officials refrain from soliciting and accepting bribes to perform duties or expedite processes, and whether the judiciary and judicial rulings are free of improper influence by the government, private interests, or criminal organizations.

2.3 Government officials in the police and the military do not use public office for private gain

Measures whether police officers and criminal investigators refrain from soliciting and accepting bribes to perform basic police services or to investigate crimes, and whether government officials in the police and the military are free of improper influence by private interests or criminal organizations.

2.4 Government officials in the legislative branch do not use public office for private gain

Measures whether members of the legislature refrain from soliciting or accepting bribes or other inducements in exchange for political favors or favorable votes on legislation.

3. Open Government

3.1 Publicized laws and government data

Measures whether basic laws and information on legal rights are publicly available, presented in plain language, and made accessible in all languages used in the country or jurisdiction. It also measures the quality and accessibility of information published by the government in print or online, and whether administrative regulations, drafts of legislation, and high court decisions are made accessible to the public in a timely manner.

3.2 Right to information

Measures whether requests for information held by a government agency are granted, whether these requests are granted within a reasonable time period, if the information provided is pertinent and complete, and if requests for information are granted at a reasonable cost and without having to pay a bribe. It also measures whether people are aware of their right to information, and whether relevant records are accessible to the public upon request.

3.3 Civic participation

Measures the effectiveness of civic participation mechanisms, including the protection of the freedoms of opinion and expression, assembly and association, and the right to petition the government. It also measures whether people can voice concerns to various government officers and whether government officials provide sufficient information and notice about decisions affecting the community.

3.4 Complaint mechanisms

Measures whether people are able to bring specific complaints to the government about the provision of public services or the performance of government officers in carrying out their legal duties in practice, and how government officials respond to such complaints.

4. Fundamental Rights

4.1 Equal treatment and absence of discrimination

Measures whether individuals are free from discrimination—based on socio-economic status, gender, ethnicity, religion, national origin, sexual orientation, or gender identity—with respect to public services, employment, court proceedings, and the justice system.

4.2 The right to life and security of the person is effectively guaranteed

Measures whether the police inflict physical harm upon criminal suspects during arrest and interrogation, and whether political dissidents or members of the media are subjected to unreasonable searches, arrest, detention, imprisonment, threats, abusive treatment, or violence.

4.3 Due process of the law and rights of the accused

Measures whether the basic rights of criminal suspects are respected, including the presumption of innocence and the freedom from arbitrary arrest and unreasonable pre-trial detention. It also measures whether criminal suspects are able to access and challenge evidence used against them, whether they are subject to abusive treatment, and whether they are provided with adequate legal assistance. In addition, it measures whether the basic rights of prisoners are respected once they have been convicted of a crime.

4.4 Freedom of opinion and expression is effectively guaranteed

Measures whether an independent media, civil society organizations, political parties, and individuals are free to report and comment on government policies without fear of retaliation.

4.5 Freedom of belief and religion is effectively guaranteed

Measures whether members of religious minorities can worship and conduct religious practices freely and publicly, and whether non-adherents are protected from having to submit to religious laws.

4.6 Freedom from arbitrary interference with privacy is effectively guaranteed

Measures whether the police or other government officials conduct physical searches without warrants, or intercept electronic communications of private individuals without judicial authorization.

4.7 Freedom of assembly and association is effectively guaranteed

Measures whether people can freely attend community meetings, join political organizations, hold peaceful public demonstrations, sign petitions, and express opinions against government policies and actions without fear of retaliation.

4.8 Fundamental labor rights are effectively guaranteed

Measures the effective enforcement of fundamental labor rights, including freedom of association and the right to collective bargaining, the absence of discrimination with respect to employment, and freedom from forced labor and child labor.

5. Order and Security

5.1 Crime is effectively controlled

Measures the prevalence of common crimes, including homicide, kidnapping, burglary and theft, armed robbery, and extortion, as well as people's general perceptions of safety in their communities.

5.2 Civil conflict is effectively limited

Measures whether people are effectively protected from armed conflict and terrorism.

5.3 People do not resort to violence to redress personal grievances

Measures whether people resort to intimidation or violence to resolve civil disputes amongst themselves or to seek redress from the government, and whether people are free from mob violence.

6. Regulatory Enforcement

6.1 Government regulations are effectively enforced

Measures whether government regulations, such as labor, environmental, public health, commercial, and consumer protection regulations are effectively enforced.

6.2 Government regulations are applied and enforced without improper influence

Measures whether the enforcement of regulations is subject to bribery or improper influence by private interests, and whether public services, such as the issuance of permits and licenses and the administration of public health services, are provided without bribery or other illegal inducements.

6.3 Administrative proceedings are conducted without unreasonable delay

Measures whether administrative proceedings at the national and local levels are conducted without unreasonable delay.

6.4 Due process is respected in administrative proceedings

Measures whether due process of the law is respected in administrative proceedings conducted by national and local authorities in issue areas such as the environment, taxes, and labor.

6.5 The government does not expropriate without lawful process and adequate compensation

Measures whether the government respects the property rights of people and corporations, refrains from the illegal seizure of private property, and provides adequate compensation when property is legally expropriated.

7. Civil Justice

7.1 People can access and afford civil justice

Measures the accessibility and affordability of civil courts, including whether people are aware of available remedies; can access and afford legal advice and representation; and can access the court system without incurring unreasonable fees, encountering unreasonable procedural hurdles, or experiencing physical or linguistic barriers.

7.2 Civil justice is free of discrimination

Measures whether the civil justice system discriminates in practice based on socio-economic status, gender, ethnicity, religion, national origin, sexual orientation, or gender identity.

7.3 Civil justice is free of corruption

Measures whether the civil justice system is free of bribery and improper influence by private interests.

7.4 Civil justice is free of improper government influence

Measures whether the civil justice system is free of improper government or political influence.

7.5 Civil justice is not subject to unreasonable delay

Measures whether civil justice proceedings are conducted and judgments are produced in a timely manner without unreasonable delay.

7.6 Civil justice is effectively enforced

Measures the effectiveness and timeliness of the enforcement of civil justice decisions and judgments in practice.

7.7 Alternative dispute resolution mechanisms are accessible, impartial, and effective

Measures whether alternative dispute resolution mechanisms (ADRs) are affordable, efficient, enforceable, and free of corruption.

8. Criminal Justice

8.1 Criminal investigation system is effective

Measures whether perpetrators of crimes are effectively apprehended and charged. It also measures whether police, investigators, and prosecutors have adequate resources, are free of corruption, and perform their duties competently.

8.2 Criminal adjudication system is timely and effective

Measures whether perpetrators of crimes are effectively prosecuted and punished. It also measures whether criminal judges and other judicial officers are competent and produce speedy decisions.

8.3 Correctional system is effective in reducing criminal behavior

Measures whether correctional institutions are secure, respect prisoners' rights, and are effective in preventing recidivism.

8.4 Criminal system is impartial

Measures whether the police and criminal judges are impartial and whether they discriminate in practice based on socio-economic status, gender, ethnicity, religion, national origin, sexual orientation, or gender identity.

8.5 Criminal system is free of corruption

Measures whether the police, prosecutors, and judges are free of bribery and improper influence from criminal organizations.

8.6 Criminal system is free of improper government influence

Measures whether the criminal justice system is independent from government or political influence.

8.7 Due process of the law and rights of the accused

Measures whether the basic rights of criminal suspects are respected, including the presumption of innocence and the freedom from arbitrary arrest and unreasonable pre-trial detention. It also measures whether criminal suspects can access and challenge evidence used against them, whether they are subject to abusive treatment, and whether they are provided with adequate legal assistance. In addition, it measures whether the basic rights of prisoners are respected once they have been convicted of a crime.

9. Informal Justice

The conceptual framework of the Index includes a ninth factor on informal justice that is not included in the Index's aggregate scores and rankings. Informal justice systems often play a large role in countries and jurisdictions where formal legal institutions are weak, remote, or perceived as ineffective. As such, WJP has devoted effort to collecting data on informal justice through our surveys. Nonetheless, the complexities of these systems and the difficulties of systematically measuring their fairness and effectiveness make cross-country assessments extraordinarily challenging. For this reason, the informal justice factor is not included in the Index scores and rankings.

9.1 Informal justice is timely and effective

9.2 Informal justice is impartial and free of improper influence

9.3 Informal justice respects and protects fundamental rights

Methodology Snapshot

The WJP Rule of Law Index® is built upon an original conceptual framework, which WJP developed in consultation with academics, legal practitioners, and community leaders from around the world.

The methodology* can be broken down into the following five-step process:

1. Questionnaires

WJP administers a set of five original questionnaires to experts and the general public. These questionnaires are translated into several languages and adapted to reflect commonly used terms and expressions.

4 Expert Questionnaires

Qualified Respondents' Questionnaires (QRQs)

Every year, WJP invites legal practitioners and academics from around the world to participate in expert surveys covering four disciplines: civil and commercial law, criminal justice, labor law, and public health.

1 Household Questionnaire

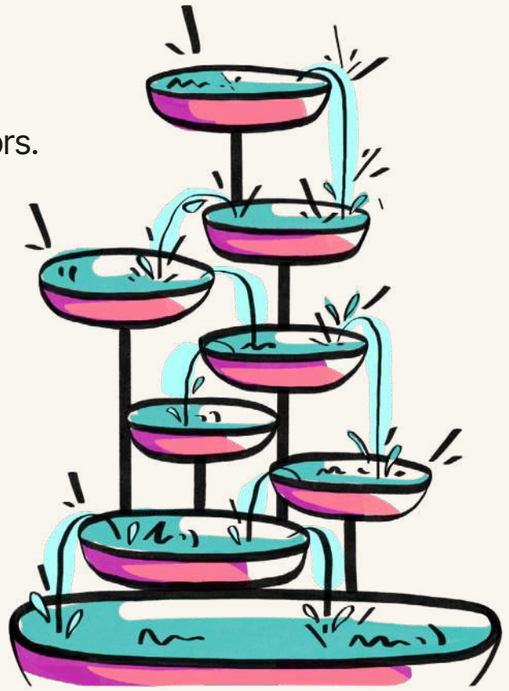
General Population Poll (GPP)

Every few years, WJP engages the services of leading local polling companies to conduct surveys of the general public in each country.

*To read more about the methodology of the WJP Rule of Law Index, please refer to the "Methodology" document available for download on WJP's website: https://worldjusticeproject.org/rule-of-law-index/downloads/Index-Methodology-2025.pdf

2. Codification

WJP maps collected data onto 44 rule of law sub-factors. Final scores are constructed using a five-step process:



1. Codify questionnaire items as numeric values.
2. Produce raw country scores by aggregating the individual responses.
3. Normalize raw scores.
4. Aggregate the scores into sub-factors and factors using simple averages.
5. Produce the final scores and rankings.

3. Testing

The data is subjected to a series of tests to detect significant changes and identify possible biases and errors. The sub-factors are cross-checked against more than 90 third-party sources drawn from local and international organizations.

4. Presentation

Data is organized into country profiles, tables, and figures to facilitate its presentation and interpretation. The full report, key insights, and historical datasets can be accessed on WJP's website: worldjusticeproject.org/index.

5. External Review and Validation

To assess the statistical reliability of our results, WJP periodically invites the Econometrics and Applied Statistics Unit of the European Commission's Joint Research Centre to perform a sensitivity analysis of the Index. This analysis confirms that the WJP Rule of Law Index® is a reliable tool with statistical coherence and robust structure.

Rule of Law Highlights

For the eighth consecutive year, the rule of law weakened in more countries than those in which it improved (96 vs. 46 countries, or 68% vs. 32%, respectively). In contrast to recent years, however, the 2025 Index demonstrates that the global rule of law recession is accelerating: the share of countries experiencing a deterioration in their rule of law scores increased sharply since last year (57% of countries declined in 2024).

Compounding this downward trend, the rate of rule of law declines outpaces improvements. In the last year, countries that improved saw an average score gain of 0.52%, while countries that deteriorated saw an average decline of twice that: -1.07%. While building resilient rule of law institutions can be a long and iterative process, dismantling them can happen rapidly.

Rising authoritarianism—defined by weakening checks and balances and shrinking civic space—has been a primary force in this year's rule of law downturn, driven by widespread declines in factors measuring Constraints on Government Powers, Open Government, and Fundamental Rights. Additionally, falling scores in the indicators measuring the judiciary's checks on executive power and judicial independence indicate that judiciaries are losing ground to executive overreach, with rising political interference across justice systems.

Post-pandemic rule of law improvements have reversed.

In the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic, the share of countries experiencing rule of law declines had been gradually decreasing. This year's spike in the percentage of countries with worsening scores points to an acceleration in the rule of law recession.

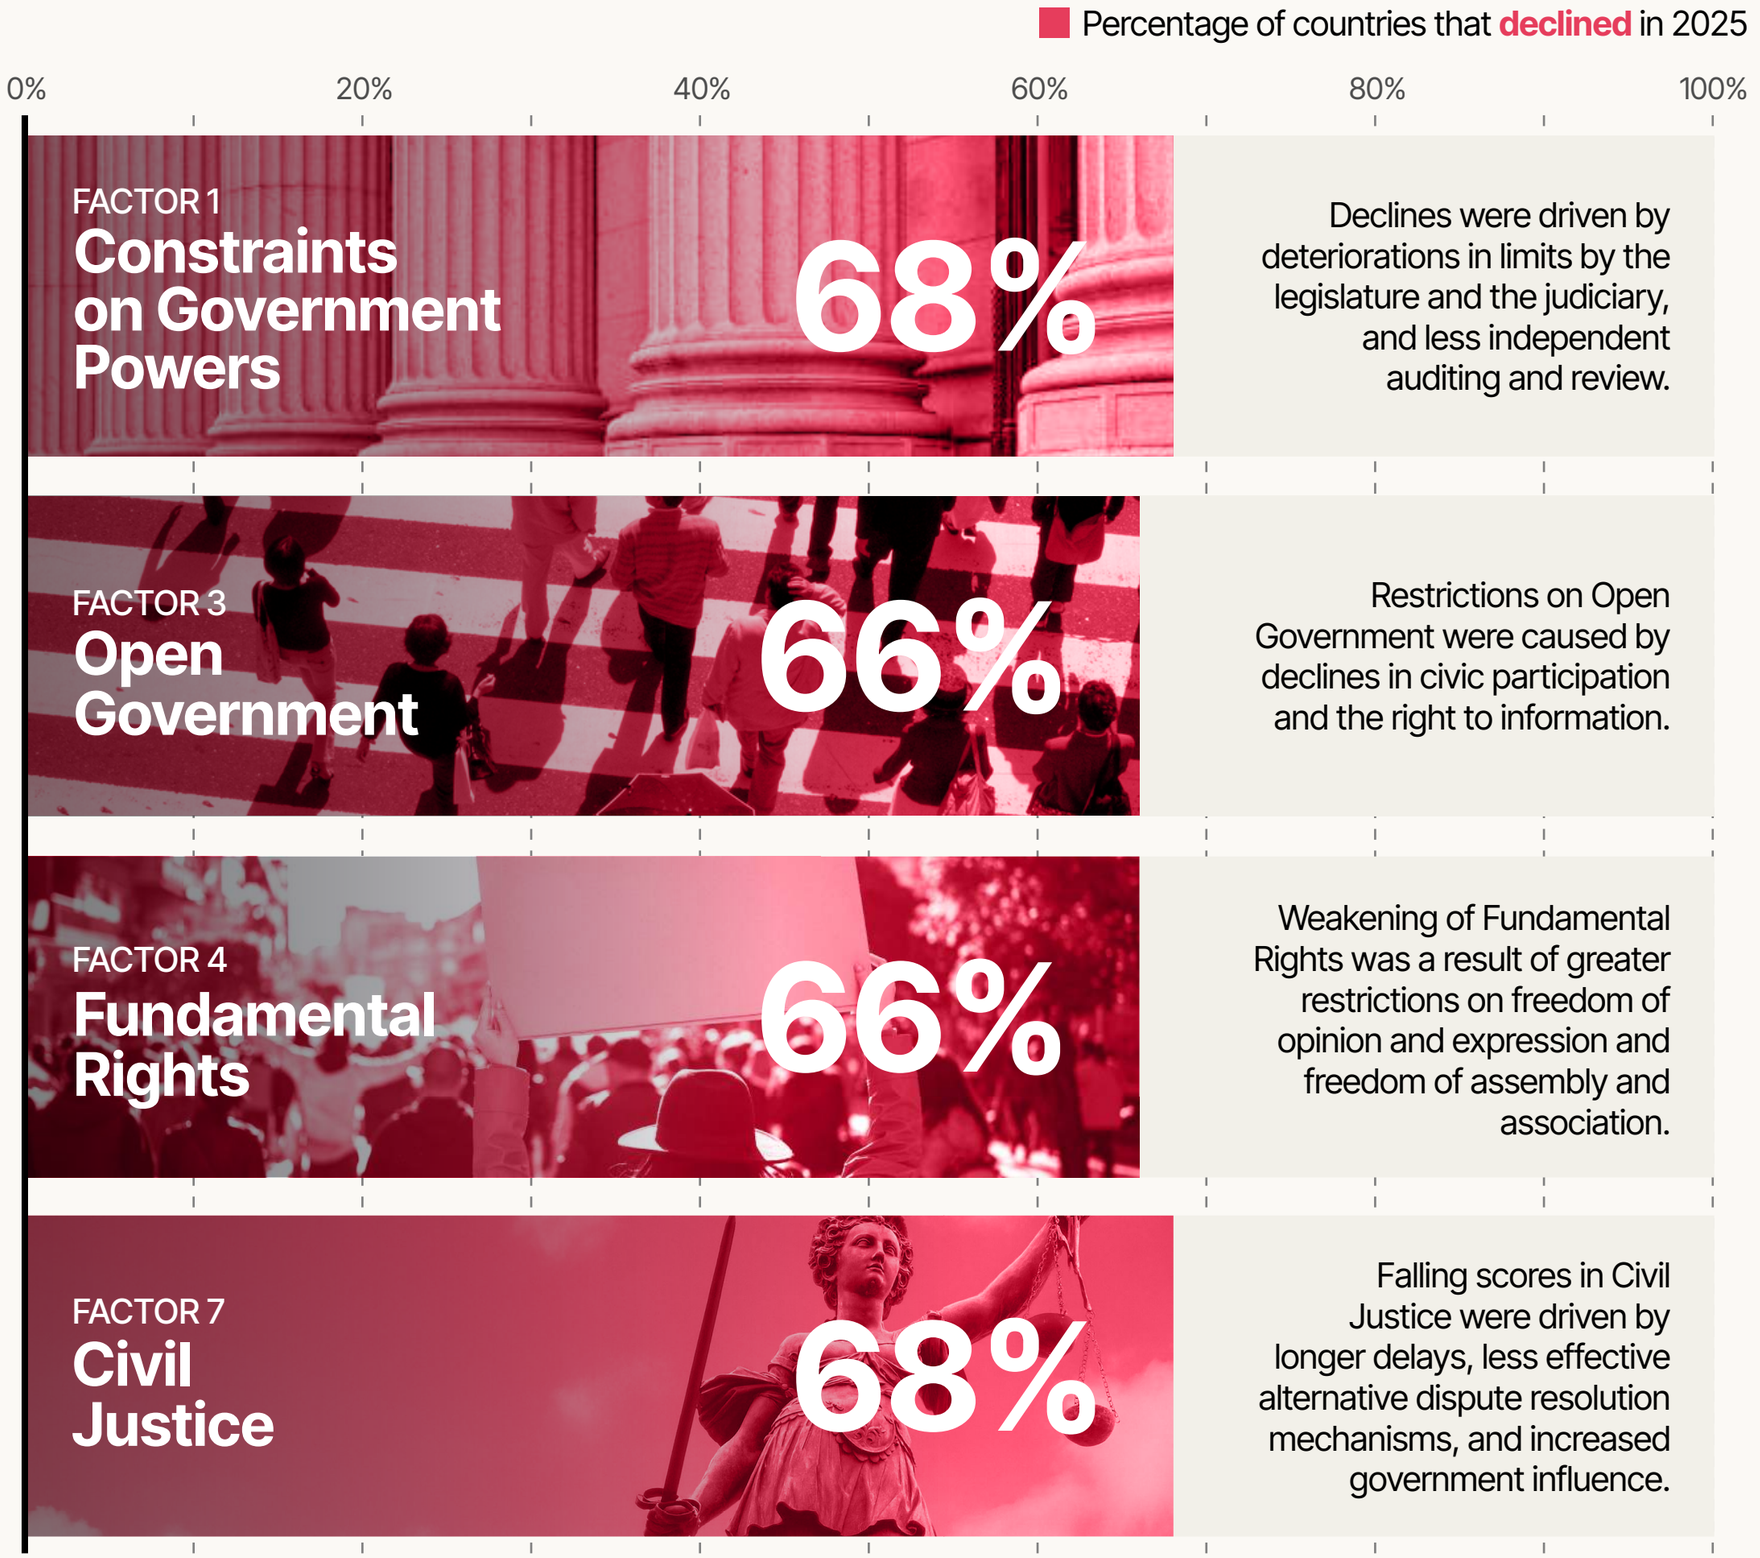
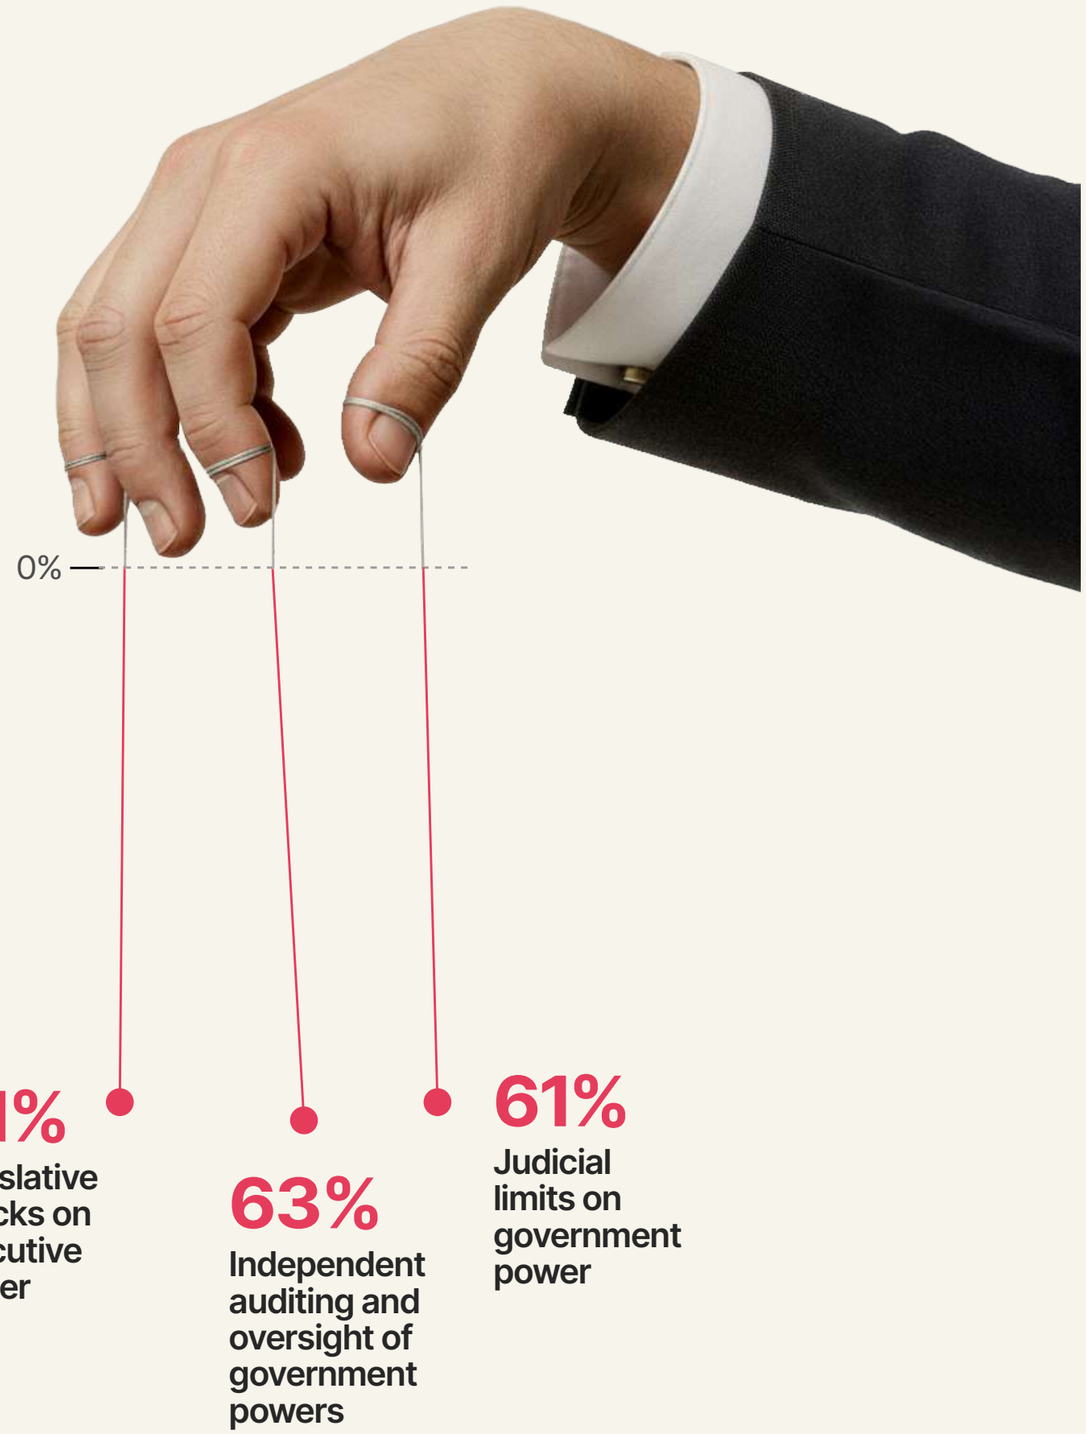
Factors Influencing the Rule of Law Recession

Weakening rule of law around the world can be explained by widespread declines in the following factors:



A rise in authoritarianism is driving the rule of law recession.

This trend is captured by widespread declines in three key indicators* of government accountability.



* The sub-factors referenced in this graphic are: 1.1 Government powers are effectively limited by the legislature; 1.2 Government powers are effectively limited by the judiciary; and 1.3 Government powers are effectively limited by independent auditing and review.

Civic space is shrinking.

Civic space, which enables people to participate in public life, is necessary for societies with strong rule of law. In the past year, more than 70% of countries cut back on safeguards that keep governments open, accountable, and responsive.*

of countries are experiencing a shrinking of civic freedoms.

* This measure on civic space is based on the following sub-factors: 3.3 Civic participation; 4.4 Freedom of opinion and expression; and 4.7 Freedom of assembly and association.

Free speech is being silenced.

In the past year, three essential civil and political rights* were curtailed in the majority of countries.

72%
Freedom of assembly and association

71%
Civic participation

*The sub-factors referenced in this graphic are: 3.3 Civic participation; 4.4 Freedom of opinion and expression; and 4.7 Freedom of assembly and association.

Judicial independence is under threat.

Judges represent the last line of defense against executive overreach—but that line is getting weaker. In 2025, core safeguards of judicial independence* weakened in most countries.

Percentage of countries that declined in 2025:

61%
Judiciary limits on executive power

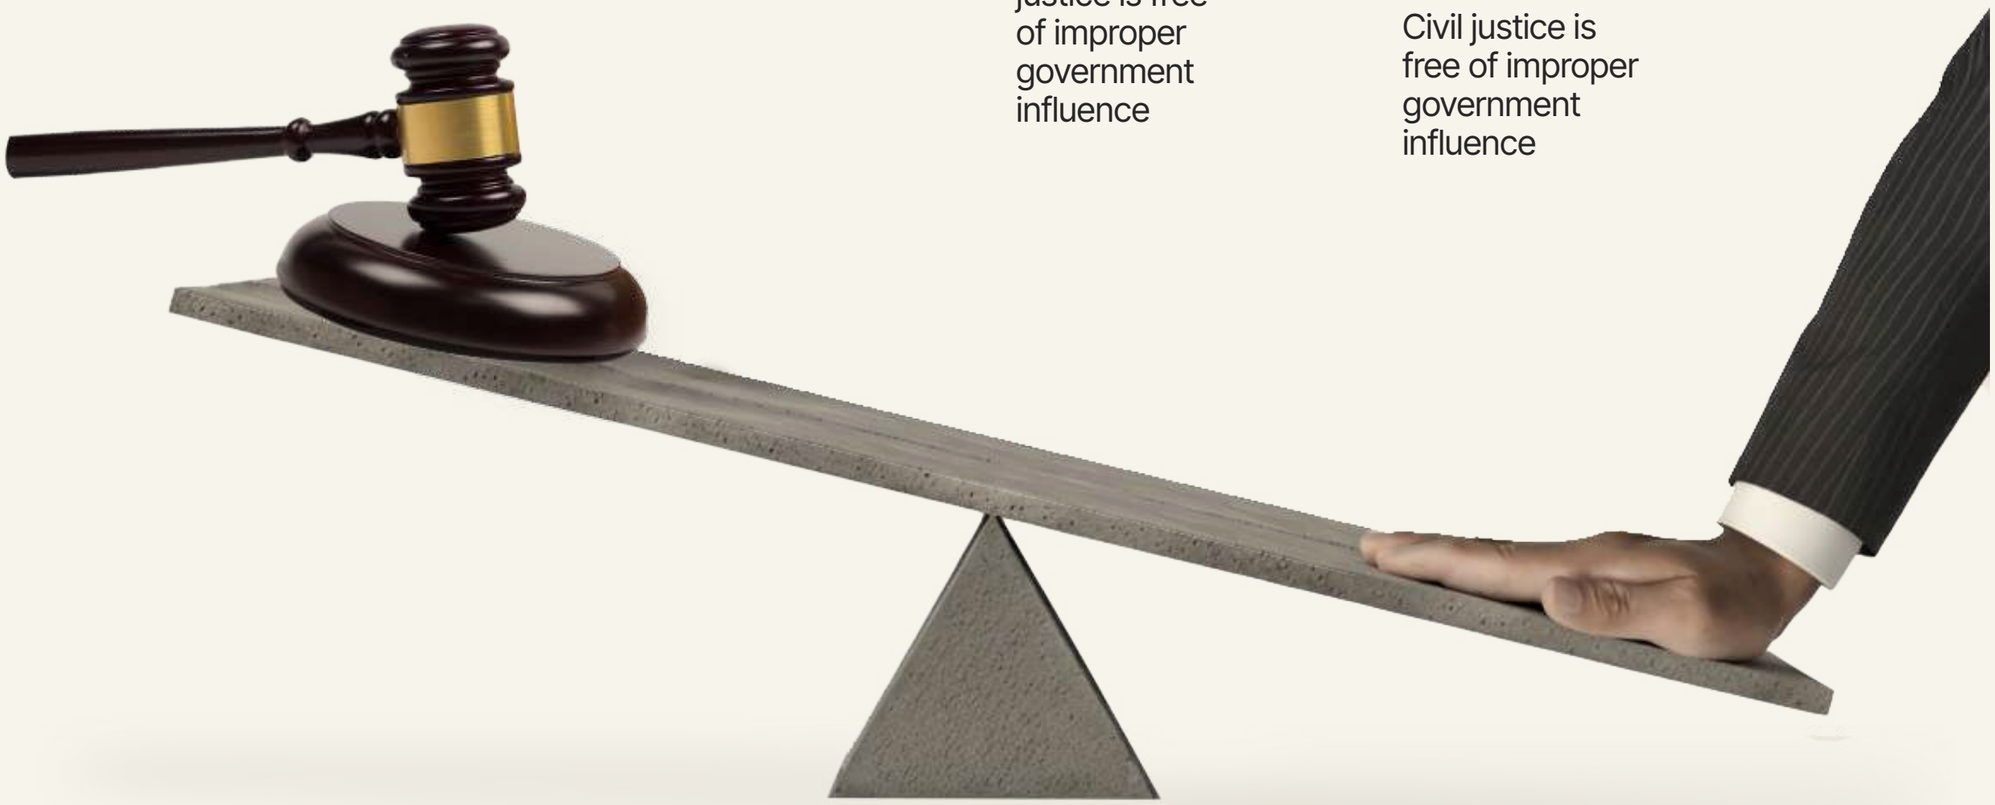
Civil justice is free of improper government influence



* The sub-factors referenced in this graphic are: 1.2 Government powers are effectively limited by the judiciary; 7.4 Civil justice is free of improper government influence; and 8.6 Criminal system is free of improper government influence.

Building resilient rule of law institutions takes time, but they can be dismantled quickly.

On average, countries that improved their rule of law performance in 2025 saw a modest increase in score of 0.52%. Meanwhile, the average rate of decline among countries with negative changes in score was -1.07%, more than double the average rate of improvement.

Progress is possible.

Although weakening rule of law has become commonplace, there are countries in every region of the world that are defying this trend.

About the World Justice Project

The World Justice Project (WJP) is an independent, multidisciplinary organization working to create knowledge, build awareness, and stimulate action to advance the rule of law worldwide. Effective rule of law reduces corruption, combats poverty and disease, and protects people from injustices large and small. It underpins development, accountable government, and respect for fundamental rights, and it is the foundation for communities of justice, opportunity, and peace.

Our Approach

Traditionally, the rule of law has been viewed as the domain of lawyers and judges. However, everyday issues of safety, rights, justice, and governance affect us all; everyone is a stakeholder in the rule of law. Based on this, the WJP builds and supports a global, multidisciplinary movement for the rule of law by:

Collecting, organizing, and analyzing original, independent rule of law data, as in the WJP Rule of Law Index;

Supporting research, scholarship, and teaching about the importance of rule of law, its relationship to development, and effective strategies to strengthen it; and

Connecting and building an engaged global network of policy-makers and advocates to advance the rule of law through strategic partnerships, convenings, coordinated advocacy, and support for locally-led initiatives. These efforts include WJP's Resource Hub, a directory of leading organizations advancing the rule of law worldwide; the World Justice Challenge, a competition to identify, recognize, and promote good practices and successful solutions for strengthening the rule of law worldwide; and the World Justice Forum.

Honorary Chairs

The World Justice Project has the support of outstanding leaders who represent a range of disciplines around the world. The Honorary Chairs of the World Justice Project are recognized below:

Giuliano Amato; James A. Baker III; Cherie Blair; Stephen G. Breyer; Sharan Burrow; David Byrne; Maria Livanos Cattaui; Hans Corell; Hilario G. Davide, Jr.; Hernando de Soto; Adama Dieng; Richard J. Goldstone; Kunio Hamada; Lee H. Hamilton; Mohamed Ibrahim; Hassan Bubacar Jallow; Tassaduq Hussain Jillani; Anthony M. Kennedy; Beverley McLachlin; George J. Mitchell; Ana Palacio; Richard W. Riley; Mary Robinson; Antonio Vitorino; Harold Woolf; and Andrew Young.

The World Justice Project (WJP) Rule of Law Index® 2025 report was prepared by the World Justice Project. The Index's conceptual framework and methodology were developed by Juan Carlos Botero, Mark David Agrast, and Alejandro Ponce.

Data collection and analysis for the 2026 report was performed by Allison Bostrom, Erin Campbell, James Davis, Giacomo D'Urbano, Alicia Evangelides, Joshua Fuller, Lauren Littlejohn, Alejandro Ponce, Natalia Rodríguez Cajamarca, and Katrina Wanner, with the assistance of Lloyd Cleary, Adrian Feinberg, James Marculitis, Andrea Marín Núñez de Arce, Charlotte Mast, Zayna Tubeishat, and Holly West.

Pitch Interactive served as lead website designer.

The graphic design team for this report included Mariana López and Irene Heras under the supervision of Natalia Jardon.
