- 2025 WJP Rule of Law Index® finds the rule of law recession accelerates as authoritarian trends expand
- Decline in judicial independence and shrinking civic space signal heightened risk to democracy worldwide
- Germany's score decreased, ranks 5 out of 31 regionally

WASHINGTON (October 28, 2025) – The global rule of law recession has accelerated again, according to the new WJP Rule of Law Index® 2025. A stark 68% of countries declined in their rule of law in 2025, compared to 57% in the previous year—including Germany.

Germany's overall rule of law score decreased by less than 1% in this year's Index. It ranks 6th out of 143 countries worldwide.

Regionally, Germany ranks 5th out of 31 countries in the European Union, European Free Trade Association, and North America.* The region's top performer is Denmark (ranked 1st out of 143 globally), followed by Norway and Finland. The three countries with the lowest scores in the region are Greece, Bulgaria, and Hungary (79th globally).

In the last year, 22 out of 31 countries declined in the European Union, European Free Trade Association, and North America. Of those 22 countries, 16 had also declined in the previous year.

Russia leads the rule of law recession with its most significant decline since the recession began.

Among high income countries, Germany ranks 6th out of 51.

Germany and global trends

An expansion of authoritarian trends is the primary force behind the rule of law recession, with deep declines in factors measuring Constraints on Government Powers, Open Government, and Fundamental Rights.

The integrity of checks and balances has also been seriously weakened, including in Germany.

A characteristic of this accelerated rule of law recession is a shrinking civic space. Freedoms crucial for public discourse and government oversight—measured under the Open Government and Fundamental Rights factors—saw widespread erosion. Germany is among the over 70% of countries experiencing a shrinking of civic freedoms:

- "Freedom of opinion and expression" declined in 73% of countries, including Germany.
- "Freedom of assembly and association" declined in 72% of countries, including Germany.
- "Civic participation" declined in 71% of countries, including Germany.

The Index shows that judiciaries are losing ground to executive overreach, with rising political interference across justice systems. Indicators measuring whether the judiciary limits executive power and whether civil and criminal justice are free from improper government influence declined in 61%, 67%, and 62% of countries, respectively. This does not include Germany.

More broadly, civil justice weakened in 68% of countries, but not in Germany. This decline reflects longer delays, less effective alternatives to court (such as mediation), and greater government interference.

Global rankings

Globally, the top-ranked country in the 2025 WJP Rule of Law Index is Denmark, followed by Norway, Finland, Sweden, and New Zealand. The country with the lowest score is Venezuela, followed by Afghanistan, Cambodia, Haiti, and Nicaragua.
