

UNDER EMBARGO UNTIL OCTOBER 28

Kenya Ranks 102 out of 143 in the WJP Rule of Law Index

- 2025 WJP Rule of Law Index® finds the rule of law recession accelerates as authoritarian trends expand
- Decline in judicial independence and shrinking civic space signal heightened risk to democracy worldwide
- Kenya's score decreased, ranks 13 out of 34 regionally

WASHINGTON (October 28, 2025) – The global rule of law recession has accelerated again, according to the new WJP Rule of Law Index® 2025. A stark 68% of countries declined in their rule of law in 2025, compared to 57% in the previous year—including Kenya.

Kenya's overall rule of law score decreased by less than 1% in this year's Index. It ranks 102nd out of 143 countries worldwide.

Regionally, Kenya ranks 13th out of 34 countries in Sub-Saharan Africa.* The region's top performer is Rwanda (ranked 39th out of 143 globally), followed by Namibia and Mauritius. The three countries with the lowest scores in the region are Cameroon, the Democratic Republic of the Congo, and Sudan (137th globally).

In the last year, 25 out of 34 countries declined in Sub-Saharan Africa. Of those 25 countries, 14 had also declined in the previous year.

Africa represents a significant bright spot, with four out of the top ten global improvers in the WJP Rule of Law Index originating from the region.

Among lower-middle income countries, Kenya ranks 15th out of 35.**

Kenya and global trends

An expansion of authoritarian trends is the primary force behind the rule of law recession, with deep declines in factors measuring Constraints on Government Powers, Open Government, and Fundamental Rights.

The integrity of checks and balances has also been seriously weakened, including in Kenya.

A characteristic of this accelerated rule of law recession is a shrinking civic space. Freedoms crucial for public discourse and government oversight—measured under the Open Government and Fundamental Rights factors—saw widespread erosion. Kenya is among the over 70% of countries experiencing a shrinking of civic freedoms:

- “Freedom of opinion and expression” declined in 73% of countries, including Kenya.
- “Freedom of assembly and association” declined in 72% of countries, including Kenya.
- “Civic participation” declined in 71% of countries, but not in Kenya.

The Index shows that judiciaries are losing ground to executive overreach, with rising political interference across justice systems. Indicators measuring whether the judiciary limits executive power and whether civil and criminal justice are free from improper government influence declined in 61%, 67%, and 62% of countries, respectively. This includes Kenya.

More broadly, civil justice weakened in 68% of countries, but not in Kenya. This decline reflects longer delays, less effective alternatives to court (such as mediation), and greater government interference.

Global rankings

Globally, the top-ranked country in the 2025 WJP Rule of Law Index is Denmark, followed by Norway, Finland, Sweden, and New Zealand. The country with the lowest score is Venezuela, followed by Afghanistan, Cambodia, Haiti, and Nicaragua.
